Making a difference

Kingston Hospital Charity is committed to supporting Kingston Hospital as it strives to deliver an outstanding level of care across all its services, for the benefit of patients, their families and staff.

The role of the charity is not to replace NHS funding but instead to raise money for equipment, comforts, research and amenities that are above and beyond the scope of the NHS, helping to make a real difference to staff and patients and their families now and in the future.

Thanks to the generous support of individuals, companies and grant-making trusts and foundations, Kingston Hospital Charity has already helped to fund a wide-range of important projects. Some recent examples include:

Transformation of Derwent Ward, one of the hospital's elderly care wards, to ensure it’s completely dementia-friendly. A safe, homely and comfortable social and therapeutic environment that facilitates all types of functioning.

Helping transform research activity at the hospital, as research active organisations provide newer, more efficient treatments and models of care. With an initial grant provided by Kingston Hospital Charity, the research team has subsequently successfully bid for funding for staffing and equipment from external sources to continue its work.

Funding the purchase of equipment required by the cardiology, breast, urology and paediatrics departments to help enhance the care provided by these services for the benefit of their patients.
